

YNA COLLECTIVE PRESENTS

NO SPACE, EVERY PLACE

What does our world look like, here and now?

As part of the virtual Young Norfolk Arts Festival 2020, the YNA Collective have curated a unique exhibition of artwork inside our new virtual gallery space. This exhibition brings together pieces in a variety of art forms that have been created by young people aged 11-25 from across Norfolk.

To accompany the virtual exhibition, we have made an exhibition guide and this interactive zine to help you produce your own work in response to the theme

THIS ZINE WAS CREATED BY

HOPE SURREAL ANGST

These are the three anchoring themes to the exhibition, a reflection on three emotions that have arisen during quarantine.

A confusing and chaotic oscillation between anger, desperation and hope. Our themes pull the viewer through a journey of quarantine, but one which has no specific direction, end or beginning - just feelings.

AMY ROSE WILLIAMS
'SHORELINE CYANOTYPE SERIES'
2020

The artist Amy Rose Williams created this piece after being inspired by the the coast, as a place that makes them feel free and peaceful.

Is there a place of natural beauty near you that you could explore that might perhaps inspire a work of art?

CIARA CURZON
'THE WINDOW SILL'
2020

For Ciara Curzon, the plants here represent all the new things they have started to do during lockdown, symbolising new growth in ones self.

What activities, skills or hobbies have you taken up over lockdown? Try photographing or painting them like Ciara has done here.
